

Aptiv COVID-19 Giving Report

Thanks to Aptiv and other donors' generosity, GlobalGiving has made rapid response grants to nonprofit partners in more than 20 countries. GlobalGiving partners continue to support the brave women and men treating patients at hospitals and clinics—nurses, doctors, technicians, as well as workers cleaning and disinfecting medical facilities.

Hundreds of GlobalGiving nonprofit partners are mobilizing to meet urgent and evolving COVID-19 needs in their communities. Your support is crucial to their efforts and the eventual defeat of COVID-19. We stand in solidarity with you and these amazing responders as we rise to face one of the most challenging crises in modern history. See how some of our incredible partners are helping below.

Amid global shortages, Direct Relief is delivering personal protective equipment and essential medical supplies to health facilities in the U.S., China, and other affected countries. In close coordination with public health officials, nonprofit organizations, and the private sector, Direct Relief has been providing much needed N-95 surgical masks, gloves, coveralls, and face shields to frontline health workers.

In China, the One Foundation rapidly launched a response in late January. Their teams provided medical care and coordinated the distribution of medical supplies and equipment for health workers, and provided online consultation for local communities.

In Germany, Die Arche Christliches Kinder- und Jugendwerk e.V. is supporting children and their families during the national lockdown by delivering boxes of fresh and non-perishable items.

In India, the Indian Association for the Blind is providing food, medicine, and support with rental costs for persons with visual impairments and their families.

Morocco has one of the highest numbers of infections in the African continent, and our partner, SOS Children's Villages Morocco is providing safe accommodation, food, and health services to close to 1,000 children and their families.

In Italy, the Italian Red Cross has been in the front lines of the COVID-19 response from day one. Their team has been providing emergency health care, psychological and emotional support, logistics, informative campaigns, surveillance activities, and health screenings. In partnership with public health entities, the Italian Red Cross is safely coordinating case management.
